

THE 2018 SECTION 106 BASICS

San Francisco, CA

www.achp.gov/106basics.html

Register today for the only Section 106 overview taught by the federal agency responsible for administering the review process.

Dates	Location
November 14	Serrano Hotel San Francisco, CA

The Section 106 Basics is a one-day overview course for early-career cultural resources practitioners as well as managers/decision makers from federal agencies, SHPOs, THPOs, Tribes/NHOs, applicants, and others. Through small group exercises and knowledge checks, a participant will apply the four-step Section 106 review process to example undertakings from your own experience, practice identifying consulting parties and planning to involve the public, describe an Area of Potential Effect, identify strategies to avoid adverse effects, and practice documenting a mitigation commitment in a sample agreement stipulation

.Participants will learn how to:

- Define common terms in Section 106 reviews
- Apply the four-step Section 106 review process to example federal undertakings from your own experience
- Practice identifying consulting parties and planning to involve the public
- Identify strategies to avoid adverse effects
- Practice documenting a mitigation commitment in a sample agreement stipulation

Taught by ACHP staff with practical, hands-on experience in handling Section 106 issues.

AIA/CES and AICP/CM Continuing Education Credits: The Section 106 Basics course has been approved for 6 certification maintenance (CM) credits for planners maintaining their American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP) credential.

For more information and to register, visit our web site at <https://www.achp.gov/training/classroom/section-106-basics-classroom-course> or contact training@achp.gov.

For convenient training on specific Section 106 topics, visit our on-line E-Learning series at: <http://www.achp.gov/elearning.html>.